BUYING WHERE YOU CAN BUY THE CHEAPEST.

A reader who is too modest to sign his name has clipped from The Times and mailed to this office one of the "Trade at Home" advertisements now running in its columns and on its margin comments on Barre conditions here and the advertising in question. One of these comments is to the effect that "as long as people can buy for half price or better they will do it," referring to mail order houses, supposedly, and to emphasize the statement encloses a sample of cloth with prices attached for trousers, coat and vest and for suit.

Now The Times does not question the statement of this unknown correspondent, who declares that these "Trade at Home" advertisements are "the best the mail order houses have," that "so long as people can buy for half price or better they will do it." They certainly would be foolish not to trade where they can do the best.

But do mail order houses sell to you any lower than the home dealers? In the case of the sample of cloth enclosed to The Times by this correspondent, a suit out of cloth like that could be bought for the same money or even less in any clothing store in Barre, and if our friend of the mail order houses will make himself known to the publisher, the latter will take him out and convince him of the truth of this statement or buy him the best suit any Barre store can furnish.

And it is not only so in clothing, but also in all other lines of goods. A man will send in advance his $25 to a Chicago house for groceries, pay the freight on the goods and also delivery charges, when a local grocer will deliver the same goods at your door for the same money, saving the purchaser from the mail order house his freight and delivery charges.
 And the same is true of dry goods.
 Only last week an instance of this kind came to the attention of the writer, where a summer visitor in Barre whose home is in Boston, purchased a waist at one of Barre's dry goods stores, because the same thing could be bought here cheaper than in Boston.

It will hold true, as a general rule, in most lines of goods, that you can do as well in Barre as you can through any mail order house. There may be cases where some certain line or class of goods is wanted where the demand is not large enough to warrant their being carried to any extent in Barre, that one can do better elsewhere.

Rents and wages are as high or higher in Boston or Chicago than they are in Barre. Other expenses range accordingly, and if anything are higher than at home. A mail order house may in buying a certain line of goods be able to get better prices because buying in larger quantities, but a mail order house spends more in advertising in proportion to the quantity of goods sold than do local dealers.

Mail order houses are not in business for their health, and neither are the business men of Barre. A mail order house may represent it is selling goods at lower figures than the home merchant but they do not so sell, because they cannot and stay in business.

The Times believes in buying where you can buy the cheapest, but it also believes you are not doing so when you buy of a mail order house.

The fall samples for custom suits, overcoats and raincoats have been received by the Frank McWhorter Co.

CURRENT COMMENT.

The announcement that Fairbanks is going to speak at an "irrigation" convention following so soon upon those forty cocktails complicates a delicate situation beyond all hope of adjustment.
 —St. Albans Messenger.

It is quite emphatically reported to The Journal that the Stanton boom for governor is by no means a trifling matter. The Washington county candidate, they say, is in no sense of the word a joking quality and is liable to be quite an important factor in next year's convention.—Montpelier Journal.

Representative Guy Bailey, who is said to be the redeeming feature of Essex Junction, has been pointed out to me in awe-struck whispers as the next secretary of state, if Col. Greene finally turned down the offer of the job.
 However, there is always the ever-present danger at Essex Junction of being side-tracked. It is the dormitory of statesmanship.—Hardwick Gazette.

Hon. Hiram N. Turner of St. Johnsbury, general manager of the Fairbanks' Scale company is being mentioned as one of the possible candidates for the Republican nomination for governor in 1908. Judging by the high esteem in which Mr. Turner is held in St. Johnsbury, and especially among the employes of the large scale concern, the suggestion of this popular Caledonia county man will at least call forth some very favorable comment.—Waterbury Record.

The Hon. Kittredge Haskins, representative in Congress from the second district, has informed his friends that he will be a candidate for re-nomination next year. To some, this will come in the nature of a surprise, as it was generally understood last year that he would not come up again. We are reminded of what the late General Grant once told us. Said he: "The desire to continue in Congress never dies. No one ever gives it up of his own accord.
 A winning calf has to be kicked away from the teat by the old cow. So does the congressman, before he quits."— Randolph Herald.

It is generally conceded that the salaries of Vermont teachers are too small, but poorly paid as they are, the instructors in our public schools are a hundred per cent. better off than those in some of the southern states. In Georgia, for instance, the teachers have not been paid since January, and it is proposed to make them wait for their money while a special tax is imposed upon the railroad and street railways corporations to pay them. With real southern thriftiness the state contemplates depriving these hard-working public officials of their wages until it can concoct a scheme that will enable the commonwealth to secure the money from other people than its own inhabitants, as the principal argument for the special tax on the transportation corporations is that the stock is largely owned by persons residing outside of Georgia.—Bennington Banner.

HEARST A "DEAD ONE."

So Says New York's Democratic National Committeeman.

Albany, N. Y., Aug. 31.—Norman E.
 Mack of Buffalo, the Democratic national committeeman, reiterated his predilections about Roosevelt and Bryan being the candidates of their parties next year in an interview in this city and when asked about Hearst he replied:

"Hearst, I don't care to discuss the gentleman. He is a dead one, and will cause no trouble."

REPORT DENIED.

Mr. Bonaparte Has Not Resigned, to Be Succeeded By Mr. Kellogg.

New York, Aug. 31.—The publisher report that Attorney General Bonaparte had resigned and was to be succeeded by Frank B. Kellogg of Minnesota was given emphatic denial yesterday by Mr.
 Kellogg.

What "Hamlet" Meant.
 Though the Scottish guard of France had long lost its natural character, it jealously retained until the crash of 1793 all its curious old privileges, which, though they led to constant wrangles with other regiments, had been duly allowed by Louis XIV. He was actually obliged to intervene at his own wedding to compose a dispute as to the precedence of the Scots guards and the Cent gentilshommes.
 "Proud as a Scotchman" was an old proverb in France, and their successors in the bodyguard did their best to justify it. But the most curious survival, long after a word of Scotch had been heard in the corps, was the practice of answering "hamlet" (a corruption for "I am here") when the roll was called, which was religiously maintained, at all events, down to the revolution.— Macmillan's Magazine.

The secret of success lies in the man and not in the stuff he works on.—Tor-rey.

Avviso Importante.

La presente per farvi noto che il Sig.
 J. A. Gignas agente dell' The Equitable Accident company, Vermont Accident Insurance, fu dispensato dall'incarico, e venne nominato agente, in sua vece, il sottoscritto, con officio, al n° 189 Main street, room 6, Currier block.

Se per il passato furono da lamentarsi negligenze ed irregolarità, nei pagamenti d'indennità, non sono da incolpare le compagnie, fatto è vero che a quanti si sono presentati al mio ufficio per reclamare, riflettenti irregolarità perfino dal Settembre dell'anno scorso, fu sollecitamente riparato con reciproca soddis-fazione. Su questo, possono testimoniare anche vari Italiani, che mi furono gentili di cordiali ringraziamenti.

Il sottoscritto, per ovviare in avve-nire ad ogni più piccolo inconveniente, ha preso quale Sotto-agente il vostro connazionale Sig. R. Vivoli, che, unito a me, avrà il dovere di aiutare l'operaio in disgrazia o malattia ad ottenere immediatamente l'indennizzo pattuito in polizza d'assicurazione.

Nella speranza di essere onorato della stessa fiducia che mai mi è mancata tra coloro che trattarono affari con me, vi saluto.

J. C. Griggs.

To Get Better Men.

A Scottish minister was one day talking to one of his parishioners, who ventured the opinion that ministers ought to be better paid.

"I am glad to hear you say that," said the minister. "I am pleased that you think so much of the clergy. And so you think we should have bigger stipends?"

"Ay," said the old man; "then we'd get a better class o' men."—London Spare Moments.

Someone to Laugh At.

 ye git so hot because the comic papers make fun iv th' Irish. Shure, th' same papers caricature th' English, Dootch, Scotch, Jews, Dagoes, Japs an' Rooshians also.

 they? Pople must have something to laugh at!—Brooklyn Life.

THE CHORUS SINGERS.

Say, honest, it's a shame to string him so.

I s'pose right now he's frettin' fit to kill.

First thinkin' that I won't, then that I will.

And wonderin' how soon I'll let him know.

He said if I'd be his that we would go To Europe and rest easy there until His ma shed all the tears she had to spill.

And then come home and help spend father's dough.

I knew that he had won me then and there;

I knew that I'd be his as sure as fate;
 But still I had to play the game for fair.

Who cares for fish that bite at any bait?

I didn't let him kiss me—on the square!

But told him that I'd see, and made him wait.
